"Carry On" (On Board Royal Canadian Naval Warship)

ETERNAL LORD GOD, who alone spreadest out the heavens, and rulest the raging of the sea; who has composed the waters with bounds until day and night come to an end; be pleased to receive into thy almighty and most gracious protection the persons of us thy servants, and the fleet in which we serve. Preserve us from the dangers of the sea, and from the violence of the enemy; that we may be a safeguard unto our most gracious Sovereign Lord, King George, and his Dominions, and a security for such as pass on the seas upon their lawful occasions; that the inhabitants of our Empire may in peace and quietness serve thee our God; and that we may return in safety to enjoy the blessings of the land, with the fruits of our labors, and with a thankful remembrance of thy mercies to praise and glorify thy holy name; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Royal Canadian Navy Prayer

When Cannons Have Been Stilled

He came,
And in His coming men found peace
As they before His manger-bent bent low.
Life comes,
And at His coming wars shall cease,
And hate shall pass, and man shall love his foe.

He spoke,
And in His word was pardon free,
And joy was theirs who brought to Him their sin.
He speaks,
And men today new life may see
If they will know His cleansing power within.

He called,
And men left nets and gold and all,
They rose and followed Him where'er He trod.
He calls,
And they who hear the Master's call,
Today go forth with Him to serve their God.
—Frank B. Keyes.

YULETIDE CUSTOMS

WHILE in all Christian countries, the main idea of Christmas is to celebrate the birth of our Lord, yet each country has some particular rite or habit of its own, which gives to the keeping of the festival a distinctive, native touch.

Like so many other church holidays, Christmas has a pagan as well as a Christian background. December the twenty-fifth was fixed as the date of our Lord's birth by a Roman emperor, after the Christian religion had been officially accepted by the empire, centuries later than the Nativity. This date fell conveniently between the Roman Saturnalia and New Year, and the holiday-making and presentation of gifts, which were features of the Saturnalia, passed naturally into Christmas.

Christmas Day or Christmas Eve, however, are not the only dates for gifts. In parts of Quebec, following the French custom, while the children receive their presents at Christmas, the older members of the family wait until New Year's Day.

St. Nicholas, in Hungary, pays his call a couple of weeks before Christmas, while in other European countries gifts are made on January the sixth, the feast of the Epiphany, when the Wise Men brought their gifts to the Young Child, or on the Eve of that feast.

Spanish children on the night of January the fifth, expectantly put out their shoes and find in the morning that the Magi have visited them, too, with gifts, though probably not of gold, frankincense and myrrh.

Gifts in Italy also arrive on Epiphany Eve, but they come by way of the chimney, although Santa Claus is not their bearer. "Le Befana," mounted on her broom, comes down the chimney to leave the children's presents on the hearth.

Santa Claus visits in person each Finnish home on Christmas Eve, and leaves his gifts, while in Norway he emerges from underground on the night before Christmas with gifts for the family.

One wonders somewhat unhappily about the children of the aforementioned countries this Christmas. Inevitably thousands of European children will look in vain for gifts.

In England, Santa Claus comes down the chimney, finds and fills the stockings hanging from the mantelpiece, while here, with chimneys less conveniently arranged, he usually finds it easier to place his gifts on or under the Christmas tree.

The Christmas tree may take its origin from the green boughs with which Roman houses were decked at the Saturnalia, or it may have a more religious significance in some way connected with ancient rites of worship in the forest groves. As we know it now, it was not seen in England until the reign of Victoria, when, with the Prince Consort from Germany, came the Christmas tree. The old pagan midwinter feast of Yule was Christianized as Christianity penetrated north, and it may possibly be that the Christmas tree is a contribution to the season's joy from Northern Europe.

Light and joy always seem to be companions, which is one reason, no doubt, why we light our Christmas tree, but there is a still more beautiful lighting custom observed in some country districts of the older lands. That is the practice of placing a lighted candle in the cottage window and leaving a door open all night long on Christmas Eve, that the Christ Child may be guided and welcomed into the home should He be here on earth again.

The Christmas dinner occupies a main place in the day's proceedings everywhere; but, while the North American continent favors turkey, and goose is the main dish preceding pudding in England, in some of the European countries fowl is not the traditional Christmas fare. Buried deep in the English plum pudding, which comes to table with a crown of flaming brandy, is a silver coin, a button, and a ring, to foretell events of the coming year for the assembled family. Particularly in the Scandinavian countries, the birds are remembered in the general feasting. For them a sheaf of wheat is set up,

Words Of Bible Laud Virtues In "Giving"

A LITTLE research reveals that many of the familiar quotations on the virtues of "giving" have a sound basis in Holy Scripture. Though they were not all made in connection with "giving" at Christmas time, the verses below provide definite clues to the origin of the many more modern "give" slogans so often heard in the holiday season.

Give, and it shall be given unto you; good measure, pressed down, and shaken together, and running over, shall men give into your bosom. For with the same measure that ye mete withal it shall be measured to you again.—Luke 6:38.

I have shewed you all things, how that so laboring ye ought to support the weak and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how He said, It is more blessed to give than to receive.—Acts 20:35.

Every man according as he purpoeth in his heart, so let him give; not grudgingly, or of necessity; for God loveth a cheerful giver.—II Cor. 9:7.

A gift is a precious stone in the eyes of him that hath it; whithersoever it turneth, it prospereth.—Prov. 17:8.

He that giveth unto the poor shall not lack; but he that hideth his eyes shall have many a curse.—Prov. 28:27.

But rather give alms of such things as ye have; and, behold, all things are clean unto you.—Luke 11:41.

And now abideth faith, hope, charity, these three; but the greatest of these is charity.—I Cor. 13:13.

Every man shall give as he is able, according to the blessing of the Lord thy God which He hath given thee.—Deut. 16:17.

In some high spot in the open, that they may enjoy Christmas, too.

Naturally, churchgoing is a very important part of the Christmas celebration. In the countries of Southern Europe the Nativity is elaborately represented in the church, and on a smaller scale in convents and private homes. The Lutheran churches of the north, too, have a strikingly beautiful Christmas service, sometimes with a big, lighted tree within the building, while the chilly country churches of England have their grey-green lighted with the glossy leaves and glowing berries of the holly.

All these customs, sacred and secular of many lands, make the Christmas celebration a blend of family and religious festival, which has like the first Christmas—the church in the midst.

THE FIRST CHRISTMAS CARD

THIS is a reproduction of the first Christmas card, designed by W. M. Egley, and published in England in 1842, the original of which is now in the British Museum in London.

According to museum authorities, heretofore, the earliest record of a Christmas card was one designed in 1843 by J. C. Horsley.

The Egley card depicts the holiday celebrations of an early Victorian period. The montage of four scenes shows dancers doing the Roger de Coverly, the old English country dance named for the popular literary character; a gay holiday dinner party with the traditional plum pudding very much in evidence; distribution of soup to the needy; and cane-toting, top-hatted ice skaters. In the lower left-hand corner a crowd mills around a Punch and Judy show, and in the far right-hand corner a street group sings carols.

During the one hundred years since the appearance of this first Christmas card, the exchange of greetings has become an outstanding feature of Christmas festivity. And probably this year, in a war-torn world, more Christmas cards will be sent than ever before as an expression of the deep love Canadians have for everything that Christmas presents.

Peace On Earth, Goodwill To Men

I heard the bells on Christmas Day Their old, familiar carols play, And wild and sweet The words repeat Of peace on earth, goodwill to men! And in despair I bowed my head; "There is no peace on earth," I said; "For hate is strong," And mocks the song Of peace on earth, goodwill to men!"

Then pealed the bells more loud and deep: "God is not dead, nor doth He sleep! The Wrong shall fall, The Right prevail, With peace on earth, goodwill to men."

Engineer to Check School Heating System

Provincial Boiler Inspector Inspects Boiler at Central School; Christmas Holidays December 23 to January 3.

Regular meeting of the school board was held at the week end. Present: Chairman Evans, Trustees Holley, McNeil and Stigler.

Provincial boiler inspector W. O. Henry, at the request of the board, had visited Coleman and inspected the Central school boiler which had given trouble recently. In his report Inspector Henry recommended that a heating engineer be employed to check up on the Central school heating system. Also to arrange at once to have a Hartford Loop installed on the boiler to protect it from further trouble resulting from low water and to have lifting levers of safety valve made so it is workable.

A number of teachers were present to meet the board concerning the matter of the petition received last meeting from the local A.T.A. Board members refused to meet the teachers and asked that a committee be appointed to meet them. The school Christmas holidays will be from Thursday, Dec. 23, till Monday, Jan. 3.

Honor List Almost Ready For Printer

During the past few weeks the council has been running an advertisement asking citizens to record names of local persons in the armed forces at either Antrobus' office, the Town office or the Canadian Legion.

Many names have been secured but definitely not all the names that should have been received. This week will be the last for the advertisement. Within the next few days the council will engage a man to hand print the honor roll.

As more men enlist their names will be added to the roll. If you haven't recorded that name with Mayor Antrobus do it now and have it printed along with the others.

Nothing has been left undone by Coleman Elks to make their annual Christmas Eve dance an outstanding success. A good orchestra has been secured and the hall will be tastefully decorated. Red Cross Thanks Citizens For Their Support

(President Wüfrid Dutil)

On behalf of Coleman Branch of the Canadian Red Cross I wish to thank all those who have so generously donated to this most worthy organization.

We have had a very successful year, both from a financial standpoint and from the amount of work and quantity of clothes that have been made up for free distribution among the armed forces, Merchant Marine and the unfortunate in bombed out districts.

The ladies who have worked so faithfully are deserving of special mention.

C.G.I.T. Conduct Impressive Church Service

At St. Paul's United church, Coleman, on Sunday, Dec. 19, the CGIT junior and senior groups were in charge of the evening worship. The service throughout was most impressive, the tone of reverence being maintained by all. The first part of the service consisted of the singing of well beloved carols and of responsive reading. The candle lighting was preceded by the leaders, Mrs. Kettys and Miss Reta Ash, rededicating their lives to the Master's service. Thereafter four torch-bearers went among the congregation lighting the candles, so that everyone in the well filled church was a participant. The organist was Isabel Ewing. Soloists were: Norma Leisner, Rose Kosma, Marjory Tiffin, Vicky Cibalsky, Anna and Della MacQuarrie, Dulcie Davis, Alice Anderson and Corinne Fraser. Scripture selections were read by Audrey Holstead and Corinne Fraser; then the beautiful story of "The Other Wise Man" was read by Elira Jones. The offering was taken by Helen Rogers, Adele Atkinson and Vicky Cibalsky. The senior choir led in the congregational singing.

On the evening of Monday, the 20th inst., in the club room of St. Paul's United church, about thirty CGIT girls enjoyed a Christmas supper party, all demonstrating very healthy appetites. Following the supper a delightful hour was spent in carol singing. To our two girls who are sick, all members wish a speedy recovery and a Happy Christmas.

CHRISTMAS

Beneath the starlit sky a thousand and more voices
Re-assure another Peace and Happiness,
Love, joy and comfort throughout the coming year.
Strains of music blending in perfect harmony one can hear,
Lights like magic lanterns flickering in the darkness,
Snow falling softly, gently into a blanket of extreme beauty,
Laughter, songs of adoration fill the frosty air,
Little ones widen their eyes with Santa's bringing,
Rustle of parcels from friends who still aren't forgotten,
The Christmas tree with tinsel glistening and lights a-shining,
Logs crackling in the hearth and stockings hanging,
All reveal 'tis Christmas.

JIMMY CHALMERS GETS A PRESENT

The children of grades 1 to 6 of Cameron school decided this year it was better to give than to receive so they sent Jimmy Chalmers the money they usually spend on presents for each other. It was fine to see such enthusiasm and pleasure in helping. The money order for $8.50 was sent air mail special delivery and if Jimmy gets as much happiness in receiving as the children did in giving then the children of Cameron school will be well rewarded.

Christmas Message

MAYOR ANTROBUS

"Grant us a vision of our city, fair as she might be; a city of justice, where none shall prey on others; a city of plenty, where vice and poverty shall cease to fester; a city of brotherhood, where all success shall be founded on service, and honor shall be given to nobleness alone; a city of peace, where order shall not rest on force, but on the love of all for the city, the great mother of the common life and well." — Walter Rauschenbush.

Elks to Treat Kiddies at Two Free Shows

First on Boxing Day and Second on Thursday, Dec. 30, at 2 p.m.

Coleman youngsters will once again be the guests of Coleman Elks this Christmas season. Fruit, candy, etc., are as scarce as hen's teeth and have caused the Brother Bills quite a headache. However, to make up for the lack of these delicacies the children will get a double treat—two free shows.

Arrangements have been completed with Mr. Cole to have the first free matinee at the Palace on Monday, Boxing Day, Dec. 27, at 2 p.m. The second matinee will be held on Thursday, Dec. 30, at 2 p.m.

Parents are urged to allow their children to attend as the Elks are out in force to see that all kiddies are well looked after and that no harm comes to them.

People shop where they are invited—that's why it pays to advertise.

Local Stores Exceptionally Busy on Saturday

One of the busiest days in Many Years According to Some Merchants.

Christmas shopping appeared to reach its peak on Saturday, when local and Pass shoppers thronged the local stores and taxed staffs to the limit to serve their needs. Seldom have local stores been so busy and on Monday morning some merchants voiced the opinion that it was doubtful if the stores had ever been as busy. No matter which store one entered it was the same story—customers and more customers.

Stocks have been greatly depleted under the heavy buying, but there are still numerous and various articles to be had at all local stores. Christmas shoppers have been on the job locally for the past few weeks and this week the stores are still busy with many business men hiring temporary additions to their staffs.

Today, Wednesday, stores will remain open till 5:30 p.m. and on Thursday and Friday will remain open till 7:30 p.m. These hours are uniform throughout the Pass.

Major Page Brings Home Good News Re Foss Boulton

He further stated that Foss was quite comfortable in the hospital and he had asked asked him to contact his parents when he reached his Calgary home. The Major kept his promise by phoning Mr. and Mrs. Boulton last week.

Lease-Lend Reciprocated

DURING ONE OF THE DARKEST PERIODS of the war for the democratic nations, the system of Lease-Lend was proposed by President Roosevelt. The food and war materials made available by the United States through this now famous plan, was of great assistance to the people of Britain at a time when they stood alone against the conquering armies of Germany and Italy. Since that time Lease-Lend has taken on much broader applications and all members of the United Nations now participate in the plan, which is a practical example of the community of effort which exists among the people of the United Nations. Canada has this year passed a United Nations Mutual Aid Act, which provides for the distribution of Canadian war equipment, raw materials and food stuffs to the United Nations during the present fiscal year to the value of $1,000,000,000, on the basis of strategic need.

Materials Sent To War Fronts

Because this continent has not become a battle ground our chief concern has been to send war materials to the areas where they are needed. There has been little restriction or reserve on the transfer of supplies from here, although it is provided that we may receive reciprocal aid in the form of services or supplies if it is considered desirable and practical. Between Britain and the United States, however, there has arisen an opportunity for reciprocal action which is a fine example of the co-operation engendered by the Lease-Lend plan. For some time large numbers of American troops have been stationed in Britain, and in providing for their requirements and their comforts the British people have been able to repay, in a very practical way, their debt for the great assistance sent from the United States under the Lease-Lend arrangement. Not only in the provision of enormous quantities of military equipment, and in great numbers of air fields, training camps and army camps, is this debt being repaid, but British civilians are cheerfully sharing with the Americans many rationed items of which only very small supplies are available.

Much Food Has Been Provided

Food is strictly rationed in Britain and great efforts have been made to increase the production of food within the country. In spite of this scarcity, American soldiers in Britain have been supplied with large quantities of foodstuffs. In 1943 these supplies have included 4,920,000 pounds of bread, 3,500,000 pounds of vegetables, 5,435,000 pounds of potatoes, 7,274,000 pounds of sugar, and 16,251,000 pounds of enriched wheat flour. We are also told that farm land has been set aside for the production of sweet corn for the Americans, although the British rarely use this vegetable. In a similar manner, clothing, which has been one of the most difficult of the British people's ration problems, has been shared with the Americans, and under a system of reverse Lease-Lend, Britain has supplied the American soldiers with almost all clothing replacements during the past year. In a like manner public utilities, manpower, and recreational facilities are being supplied from Britain's limited resources. The British public is co-operating whole-heartedly in the arrangement and in it is seen a fine example of the community of interests which exists among the United Nations.

Better Eggs

How To Obtain Grade A All The Year Round

Milk and green feed are two of the constituents of the poultry feed given by a successful commercial egg producer. Ninety per cent. of the eggs laid by his hens are Grade A all the year round. Here are his methods: A supply of crushed oats, wheat, and barley is kept constantly before the birds in hoppers, also a commercial poultry concentrate. Cod liver oil is poured over the whole grain in quantities of about two ounces to 100 birds and fed at night. Skimmilk to the amount of 10 to 20 pounds per 100 birds, or semi-solid buttermilk, two pounds per 100 birds, is fed daily.

Green feed as much as the birds will eat of second or third cut alfalfa or clover hay is fed by the forkful on the litter. This, along with the feeding of mangels or turnips keeps the birds busy and healthy. The birds do not eat the alfalfa but the coarse stocks they leave make excellent litter. It does no dampen as quickly as straw. Barns full of hay suitable for poultry feeding are the most significant thing about this producer's plant. He has had no bare-backed or feather-pulling birds in his flock for years. He uses the commercial poultry concentrate to offset shortages in milk, and the quantities given to the birds vary directly in accordance with the supply of milk.

For Eczema—Skin Troubles

Make up your mind today that you are going to give your skin a real chance to get well. Use any good drugstore to-day and get an original bottle of Moore's Eczema Oil—it lasts many days because it is highly concentrated. The very first application will give you relief—the itching of Eczema is quickly stopped—eruptions dry up and scale off in a very few days. The same is true of Itching Toes and Feet, Barber's Itch, Salt Rheum and other skin troubles. Remember that Moore's Eczema Oil is a clean, powerful, soothing Antiseptic that does not stain or leave a greasy residue. Complete satisfaction or money back.

Tiny Cliff-Climbing Cars Are Being Operated In Naples

The only railway in the world that has its own special theme song has resumed operations at Naples and thousands of Neapolitans are again humming the familiar strains of "Funiculi, Funicula." The city's tiny cliff-climbing funicular cars have been restored to activity after two months of idleness caused by German wrecking. Naples, built mainly on hills, has six cog-wheel railways to outlying residential sections. A seventh climbs Vesuvius.

Weed Control

The Application Of Commercial Fertilizers Is Recommended

Experiments during the last ten years have demonstrated that application of commercial fertilizers aids greatly in controlling weeds, according to A. G. Kusch, Dominion Experimental Station, Scott, Sask. This is good news for the farmer for whom weed control has become more difficult because of shortage of farm labour and machinery have interfered with proper tillage. The fertilizer is successful because it provides the growing plant with a readily available source of food, thus enabling it to form a vigorous root system quickly. The young weed seedlings are starved out and prevented from establishing themselves.

"In general," says Mr. Kusch, "the drier the climate, the lighter the fertilizer application required for effective control." In the prairie provinces, triple superphosphate drilled in with the seed, have been effective. Rate of application may vary from 20 to 50 pounds per acre. Barnyard manure used alone is ineffective in control of weeds, but useful if combined with commercial fertilizers.

IN HIS OPINION

I have no fears for the future of Europe if the people and governments of the Soviet Union and Britain are inspired by the inflexible will to solve all questions of international policy in agreement, said Dr. Benes, President of Czechoslovakia, in a broadcast message.

Doing Good Work

Canadian Engineers Have Left Their Mark In Old Country

Canadian army engineers have left permanent marks on the English countryside through their wartime activities, Brig. James L. Melville, former engineer commander who now is chairman of the Canadian Pension Commission, said.

The marks include arterial highways, by-pass roads and airfields. The Canadian sappers also made important contributions to exploitation of Britain's mineral resources by operations in the tin mines of Cornwall and exploration for minerals and ores in many parts of the island.

The speed with which one special job was carried out by a Canadian road construction company amazed the British contractor and government department concerned. A large excavation more than 60 feet deep had to be made in a subsoil of sandstone and blue clay. It looked like many months for the contractor's pick-and-shovel gang.

Canadian tractors, bulldozers, scrapers and pneumatic drills were moved on to the job, three eight-hour shifts were started and in two weeks the excavation was complete.

Strides have been made in the technique of demolishing obstacles of all kinds. Tunneling companies of the Canadian Engineers have demonstrated their skill and under Lt.-Col. C. A. Campbell, former Ontario Minister of Public Works, have gained an enviable reputation, Brig. Melville said. Their work in Gibraltar, the Cornish mines, in Scotland on water power development, and in search for new minerals, have been a "great contribution to prosecution of the war."

NO MORE "DOSING" MY CONSTIPATION —I'VE CORRECTED THE CAUSE!

"Regularity" is important any time, but it's vitally important in these busy days when all of us are working harder than ever. Don't you be "slowed down" by that common type of constipation due to lack of "bulk" in your diet. And be sensible... correct the trouble right at its source instead of "dosing" with harsh purgatives that give only temporary relief.

Eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN... grand-tasting as a cereal or in hot, crispy muffins... eat it every day... drink plenty of water... then see if you don't forget you ever had common constipation. For ALL-BRAN supplies the "bulk" your diet needs to promote natural regularity. Your grocer has ALL-BRAN in two convenient sizes. Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

SOUPS!

Housewives today can no longer prepare meals without first planning carefully. There will be enough food for all if we plan wisely and use all the food we obtain to full advantage. Not only must we utilize all leftover food but the food should be good both in appearance and flavor. Many attractive and delicious dishes, soups and salads, may be the result of a collection of leftovers and a little imagination.

Today let us consider the soup one can make from small amounts of several varieties of food. First the classification of soup: Cream soup, puree, bisque or chowder are heavy soups and contain sufficient nourishment to be the chief article of food at a meal. Cream soups are made with thickened milk combined with meat, fish or vegetable stock and pulp. Clear soups such as bouillon, consommé are used as appetizers at the beginning of a heavy meal.

If you have a mixture of many vegetables and not enough of any one to serve with a meal, you could use them in making a soup stock. Try this recipe the next time you have a small amount of several vegetables: One pound of meat, a cheap cut, such as neck, shin or joint will do or small scraps of left over meat. This should be cut into small pieces. A bone weighing about 1 lb is needed. To the bone and meat add 2 pints of water. Let cook one hour and then simmer gently for three hours. During next half hour of cooking add ½ to 1 cup of mixed vegetables. Mixed herb and spices should be tied in cheese cloth and added to the simmering soup. 6 pepper corn, 1 tsp. sweet herb, 1 small bay leaf, 1 sprig and herbs used in this recipe.

On the other hand if the vegetables you wish to use up have previously been cooked, try this recipe for cream of vegetable soup, favorite with the Home Economists in Canada's Kitchen. Make a thin cream sauce with 4 cups of milk or ½ milk and ½ water (in which the vegetables have been cooked). Rub the vegetables through a sieve and add 2 cups of same to the sauce. Season with ½ tsp. grated onion, pinch of thyme, salt and pepper. This requires no further cooking. You will find it gives delicious and distinctive flavor.

Remember do not throw away celery leaves, outside cabbage leaves or that lonely carrot, beet, etc. Waste of food is sabotage as you them up in nutritious soups.

Bundles For Britain

Manitoba Doing Excellent Work In Supplying Clothing

Canadians, particularly during the Old Country "blitz-raids" of 1940-41, heard a great deal about an American organization known as Bundles for Britain. It is very unlikely, however, that the same Canadians know very much about another organization right here in the Dominion which is known as the V-Bundles of Manitoba. Rejuvenation of old clothing, which is sent across the sea, is the victory task of a large number of Winnipeg volunteer workers.

Many women, some with grown families, others with teen-age children, and office workers who have free time in the evening, are donating all their spare hours to this work. Evidence of what has been accomplished during one year would fill to the roof many rooms of a house. Reconditioned garments numbering 125,000 were sent overseas from this tireless group to be distributed among those who had been bombed out of their homes.

Much of this work is carried on through the Women's Voluntary Service centre known in Winnipeg as the Central Volunteer Bureau. V-Bundles of Manitoba opened its doors more than two years ago in a building in the downtown district of the city. Since then it has moved into larger quarters where 400 women's groups, including church societies, institutes and legion auxiliaries work together.

Any garment with re-make possibilities is accepted by V-Bundles of Manitoba, although the cleaner and newer the garment, the better the workers like it.

The women have developed a regular assembly line technique. When garments arrive at V-Bundles of Manitoba, they are first sorted according to kind and condition, after which they are either washed or cleaned before being sent to the work room. In the work room an army of workers recut, sew and mend. By the time the garments are ready for packing they have been completely rejuvenated.

Royal Air Force

Has Done A Tremendous Job Of Destruction Against Enemy

In Great Britain's air and sea front against Germany, the Royal Air Force has done a tremendous job of destruction. It was given the task of crippling the German war machine, and in a single year, from the spring of 1942 to that of 1943, R.A.F. raids on Germany are estimated to have reduced overall industrial output by from 15 to 20 per cent. This percentage has now been increased by further R.A.F. R.C.A.F. and U.S.A. air attacks.

ROCKET DRIVEN GLIDER BOMBS ARE USED BY THE NAZIS IN AN ATTACK ON AN ALLIED CONVOY

LONDON.—The first eyewitness report of a new Nazi "secret weapon"—rocket-driven glider bombs was released following a recent attack on a big Allied convoy by eight Nazi bombers.

The sudden appearance of the gliders diving at the ship at terrific speed, leaving trails of white smoke behind, startled two British marine officers into exclaiming that the attack "looked like the day of a Martian invasion was here."

The seamen described the new weapons as big bombs mounted on radio-controlled gliders about 25 feet long with a 15-foot wingspread.

"All our ships received their destination safely but it's lucky we didn't get hit," said Robert Daley, one of the gunnery officers.

It was believed to have been the Nazis' first attack with multiple glider bombs, and the two officers may have witnessed the start of a new chapter in the history of aerial warfare.

The Germans were known to have been experimenting with the rocket gliders and were previously reported to have used one during an attack.

The eight bombers—twin-engine Junker Ju-87s—each had one glider slung under it, with each glider carrying one heavy bomb.

The bombers approached the convoy at a 90-degree angle, then veered and attacked the ships head-on.

They released the gliders some distance from the freighters, and guided them by radio control, keeping them on a horizontal course until they neared the vessels and then caused them to zoom at the ships.

Daley said the gliders built up terrific speed during the final dive and apparently were kept under good control.

"They made them turn corners," Daley said, but added they must have been poor marksmen because they all missed.

One, however, might have hit the freighter on which the two stood, Daley said, except that the glider was shot down a short distance away. One of the bombs also was shot down.

"The glider bombs exploded when they hit the water, throwing up a spout and a big cloud of black smoke."

He said that although the attack was made in daylight, the gliders were equipped with brilliant red lights, evidently to indicate their course at night.

PERMANENT FOOD COMMISSION

ASK LONG TERM AGREEMENT WITH THE UNITED KINGDOM FOR PURCHASE OF BACON SUPPLIES

OTTAWA.—A long-term agreement under which the United Kingdom would purchase bacon supplies from Canada over a period of four or five years has been suggested by Canadian officials and now is under consideration in London, it was learned.

Under a new agreement effective in 1944, Canada undertakes to provide the United Kingdom with not less than 450,000,000 pounds of bacon in each of the next two years. Because of the need of maintaining the British ration of four ounces a week Agriculture Minister Gardiner has asked hog producers to seek production to permit annual shipment of 600,000,000 pounds.

An increase in prices for hogs is not considered likely as a method of encouraging continued high production, agriculture authorities said, but they expressed belief assurance of a market at existing prices for more than two years would induce many farmers to continue in hog production.

The price factor is concerned not only with the British, but also the Canadian, ability to pay. A substantial part of the bacon sent to Britain is paid for out of the Canadian mutual aid appropriation of

SIMPLER FORMS

For Anyone With Yearly Income Not Exceeding $3,000

OTTAWA.—The man with the 1943 income not exceeding $3,000 will find the job of filling out his income tax form a little simpler than he did this year, it was indicated when copies of the new "T-1 Special" form started coming off the presses.

More complicated forms are required for persons with higher incomes.

The new "T-1 Special" is of four pages as before, but the last two pages are devoted wholly to tables showing the tax payable on various incomes by persons having various numbers of dependents.

The order of the questions is changed somewhat and they are broken down into greater detail this year. Where there were 14 main questions, each with a number of sub-questions, in last year's form, there are 17 main questions this year.

A factor which caused some taxpayers confusion this year—the remission of 50 per cent. of the tax through adoption of the "pay-as-you-earn plan"—is not present this year. That in itself leads to simplification.

In the table of tax rates are 13 columns covering every situation from "single with no dependents" to "married with eight dependents."

The new form puts the classification in print at the top of the column of taxes payable whereas the old form simply used an identifying letter—"A," "B," "C," and so on—and referred the taxpayer to a key for interpretation.

NEED IS URGENT

Canadians Still Held Prisoners By Japs Lack Medical Supplies

OTTAWA.—One of the men who returned recently in the Gripsholm from two years' internment in Hong Kong urged in Ottawa that Canadians at home do something about the lack of medical supplies among the Canadians who are still prisoners of the Japanese.

Malcolm Hardie, a former ship's officer working out of Hong Kong, said every effort should be made to get these supplies to the prisoners at once.

He also told of eating the flesh of race horses, making his own sandals, and burning the rafters of his place of dwelling for firewood, while he was interned.

MAY HAVE COMMAND

LONDON.—Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, sent to shaky northwest Europe as a kind of anti-invasion chief, may be given supreme command of the German army by Hitler in an effort to forestall an anti-Hitler peace plot by Junker generals, refugee leaders with close underground contacts in Germany said.

C.W.A.C.'s Want Useful Christmas Gifts

When Miss Canada in Khaki hangs up her stocking this Christmas, whether it be at her own family fire-side or in a distant barracks, she is hanging it with the hope that Santa will remember her with gifts which will prove useful in her Army career.

An Army girl has not much space for unessentials. She must conform to rigid regulations in the matter of dress, and must be prepared at any time to pack all her belongings into a kit bag and push off for new territory.

A recent questionnaire submitted to 100 girls in the Canadian Women's Army Corps revealed that lingerie, feminine and lace-trimmed—was the most "hoped for" gift this Christmas. Second choice was a gay colour-splashed housecoat, this was followed by khaki shirts, handkerchiefs, cosmetic sets and leather-bound writing kits. A further bracket contained such luxury items as a bedside radio, camera, cigarette case, identification bracelet, Athens-crested ring, feminine bedroom slippers, and sleeveless sweater.

In these days of rationing, requests for candy and cake are hard to fill, but a box of home-made fudge would elicit such howls of delight that it would be well worth that extra coupon.

Plea for all service girls is "please no stuffed pandas, umbrella stands or raucous pieces of jewellery!"

GREAT INCREASE FOR MANITOBA ONLY

More Passengers And Freight Carried By Civil Aircraft

OTTAWA.—Civil aircraft transported nearly 11,000 more revenue passengers in August than in August last year, an increase of slightly more than 53 per cent., the Dominion bureau of statistics reported.

The number carried during the month was 31,503, compared with 20,515 a year ago. Freight increased from 1,145,217 to 1,302,072 pounds, and mail from 416,408 to 607,865 pounds.

Operating revenue of Canadian companies increased from $1,129,864 to $1,529,130 and operating expenses from $946,595 to $1,488,501.

Rye Quota Boosted To Ten Bushels Per Seeded Acre

WINNIPEG.—The Canadian wheat board has boosted the general Manitoba rye quota from three bushels per seeded acre to 10 bushels.

The board emphasizes that the change applies only to Manitoba—rye quotas in Saskatchewan and Alberta will remain as specified in previous board circulars. Delivery points in Manitoba with a rye quota of 10 bushels per seeded acre will remain as they stand.

Canada took the first census of modern times in 1666 when 3,125 persons were enumerated in New France.

FARM MACHINERY SITUATION WILL BE GREATLY IMPROVED DURING THE COMING YEAR

OTTAWA.—The 1944 farm machinery fashion parade will be the most exciting thing in years—at least to the man on the land.

War restrictions on materials and labor supply have forced farmers to be content with dowdy binders and battered, out-of-date plows, but agriculture department officials said things will definitely be better next year.

There won't be many new styles, but about 80 per cent. of the 1940 tonnage of materials will be available for 1944, compared with only 25 per cent. in the early part of 1943, later raised to 35 per cent.

The prospects are that farmers who have hoped to try out new implements which will make easier their work in seasons of labor shortage will at last be able to buy them.

Farm machinery for 1944 was a subject of discussion at the Dominion-provincial agriculture conference recently, with farmers' representatives urging more to be made available to assist continued large production of foodstuffs despite reduced labor force.

The agriculture department said shortages of new machinery and the growing age of what machinery was available—associated with the shortage of farm help—made 1943 "the most difficult of all the war years" from the farmer's viewpoint.

"For the next year, 1944, the situation will improve," the agriculture department said. "There'll be about 80 per cent. of the 1940 tonnage for new machines and 150 per cent. for repair parts."

"But there's more good news, and this! There'll be some relaxation in the number of types of machines to be made. In addition, a limited number of smaller items will be withdrawn from rationing regulations."

Officials said that difficult as was the Canadian farmers' position in 1943, it was no worse than that of his counterpart in the United States where the supplies available were about the same as those in Canada.

FINAL RETURNS ON LOAN

OTTAWA.—Final computations show that in the Fifth Victory Loan campaign ending early last month there were 3,008,336 cash applications for bonds worth $1,383,275,250—$183,275,250 more than the minimum cash objective—Finance Minister Islay announced.

NAZI ARMY UNREST

Hitler Said To Be Demissing High Ranking Officers

LONDON.—Hitler, acting quickly to put down a "generals' revolt" within the German army, has started dismissing a number of his high-ranking officials including major-generals, an informant with close underground connections in Germany said.

This informant said that officers dismissed wholesale along the eastern front and in almost every occupied country had been accused of "insubordination" and "negligence."

Reports followed those of last month in Stockholm that Gen. Baron Alexander von Falkenhausen had been dismissed as military commander of Belgium, and earlier reports said that Field Marshal Erwin Rommel has replaced Field Marshal Karl Rudolf Gerd von Rundstedt as anti-invasion commander of the western front.

NO DENSITY OF POPULATION IS EXPECTED IN OPENING OF TERRITORY IN THE FAR NORTH

OTTAWA.—The permanent population of the Canadian northwest, opened up by the Alaska military highway and air routes, probably never will be as great as that of more southerly districts but major tourist traffic may be expected, Dr. Charles Cammell, deputy resources minister and Canadian chairman of the north Pacific planning project, said in an interview.

During last summer the northwestern area adjoining the highway had been examined by mining, agriculture, forestry and tourist traffic authorities, he said. Canada and the United States are co-operating in development of the region, each in its own territory, with the highway and the Canal pipeline only two of the instances of international collaboration.

Dr. Cammell said he feels it would be an error to look for a great rush of settlement to the far north. The country would support a larger population than at present, but there was little likelihood of a density of permanent population north of the 54th parallel comparable to that in other parts of Canada.

Dr. Cammell said few countries have such tourist attractions to offer as the northwest. But an immediate movement of tourists over the highway after the war was not to be expected. Much improvement would be necessary before the road was of a standard to which tourists had become accustomed elsewhere.

through which the highway passes. He was born at Fort Liard, north of the highway route, and was a member of exploration parties in his youth.

Opportunities for sportsmen will be found in areas where hunting is permitted, he said.

In Alaska and Canadian territory covered by the north Pacific planning project, the main forest categories were the accessible coastal forests in British Columbia; the interior forest area in central British Columbia north of Prince George and along the Parsnip and Findlay rivers, and the northern forest covering the remainder of the area in British Columbia, northern Alberta, the Yukon and Northwest Territories.

The coastal forests, including Sitka spruce, were the most valuable. Central interior forests had great potential value and only awaited further road and rail construction. Northern forests, however, were of poorer quality and possibly would always be restricted to meeting local needs.

In the southern part of the region, including central British Columbia, the Alberta Peace River district in Alberta and the Peace River block in British Columbia, agriculture was well established. Along the Alaska highway there were no large blocks of good agricultural land, except in the Fort Nelson area and one fairly large tract west of Whitehorse. In other sections, pockets of land probably could provide for the garden requirements of the population.

People Shop Where They're Invited

In buying from retailers whose ads, you read in this paper, you are assured of good values. It is a recognized fact that progressive retailers everywhere are those who see that the public is kept informed of the merchandise they have to sell. The people are guided by the ads, and naturally the stores that advertise attract the greatest volume of business. Experience proves it, in both the cities and in the small towns.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Christmas, Season of Goodwill

Christmas, the season of Goodwill to all and the expectant visit by all youngsters the world o'er by Santa Claus. No matter how old one grows, he still thinks back to the days when he, too, thrilled at the thought of old St. Nick's annual visit and the happiness it brought.

It is the season when the world, despite the war, tends a little to stand up and rejoice and observe the birthday of He who came into the world not to destroy, but to ennoble the lives of all who believe in Christianity.

It is the season of the year when little tots and their elders are made happy by a decorated Christmas tree, the exchange of Christmas greetings, of gifts and the visit of friends carrying messages of good cheer. It is a season of happiness to mankind.

To all our readers we wish them A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Needless Destruction of Young Trees.

Out after our Christmas tree at the week end we viewed with dismay the number of young trees that had been cut down and left to die on the ground. The forest area in which this damage had been done is immediately north of the cemeteries. It is an area of scrub timber, but nevertheless there is no need to cause such useless destruction.

A number frequent this part of the forest each year for their Christmas trees, among them being several youths. It would appear that the young trees are cut down for Christmas trees and that once cut they suddenly lose that symmetrical shape and are no longer wanted. Surely whoever the guilty parties are they can determine if a tree is suitable before chopping it down.

If this wanton damage is carried out in greater degree it is very likely that the forest ranger will enforce rigid regulations before allowing anyone to go into the forest for the annual Christmas tree.

Sunny Southern Alberta

Residents of Sunny Southern Alberta have every reason to be glad that they are residing in this favorable climate. To date all we have had is cold nights and a few strong winds. Snow, ice and zero weather have been conspicuous by their absence. We read of eastern Canada shivering in sub-zero temperatures and snow, and of the west coast blanketed under fog and soaking rains. Here the sun shines serenely every day in a blue sky. Many may sing "White Christmas," but we haven't heard anyone say they really wanted a White Christmas. May the present weather last for several more weeks to come.

Nazi Murderers Are Hanged

Is Russia trying to force the hand of Britain by having military courts try Nazis guilty of atrocities to prisoners of war and hapless civilians? This week three Nazis and one Russian traitor were given a trial, found guilty and hanged. The stage has therefore been set in Russia for further trials of this nature.

Britain has Hess in a prison cell. Russian papers have repeatedly voiced the opinion that Hess should stand trial as a war criminal, but so far as the public is concerned, Britain has only agreed to bring Hess and other war criminals to justice. She has done nothing more. Whether the trials and hangings in Russia this week will tend to move Britain to action, we must wait and see. Chances are that Britain will move only in its own sweet time.

Defeat of Silicosis

What may turn out to be one of the greatest medical advances of our century has tended to be obscured by the violence of the day-to-day war news of the past few years. This particular medical advance has been made in the direction of treating and preventing silicosis, a disease which has claimed untold thousands of lives. Among hard-rock miners this grim-spectred malady has always been active. It is caused by inhaling quartz dust which tends to turn to acid, causing scars in the lung tissue. These eventually cause death.

Many times this problem has been faced by scientists, but not until a few years ago in the Banting Institute in Toronto was any substantial progress made. Then, almost by trial and error, it was discovered that aluminum dust could be used to prevent the development of this disease.

The medical men involved are Doctors Irwin, Crombie, Blaisdell and Robson, who had willing partners in McIntyre Porcupine Mines Limited, where field work followed laboratory experiment. The results to date have been satisfactory.

Recently, the thirty-first annual report of the McIntyre Porcupine Mines Limited carried this statement: "Doctors Crombie and Blaisdell have completed their work in the Porcupine Clinic for Silicosis Research and report favorably on the use of aluminum powder for the treatment and prevention of silicosis. Arrangements are being made to make the treatment available to the miners of the Porcupine camp."

This statement suggests that these Canadians have won a battle—one of the greatest battles in the history of medicine. A victory of this nature will bring untold rewards in the future.—The Aluminum Ingot.

Them Gremlins

—Reader's Digest, January, 1943

After three years of exciting experience with gremlins, the RAF has compiled sufficient data to found a new science, gremlinology. It seems probable that the gremlins, who now devote themselves exclusively to playing tricks on pilots, originally lived in hollow banks beside river pools. Then they moved to mountain crags, and liked altitude so much that they started sneaking rides in airplanes. Now, with the sky full of planes, they are having the time of their lives flying with the RAF and U.S. pilots all over Britain and Europe.

Most reports agree that gremlins are usually about a foot high, and that they wear pointed suede shoes, tight green britches, red jackets with a ruffle at the neck, and stocking caps, often with a jaunty feather.

They are entirely unpredictable. One may creep in beside the airman in an ingratiating manner, and then mix up his maps at a critical moment, or tamper with instrument needles and cause a stall. Or he may wait until the pilot has been flying for a long time through clouds and then whisper in his ear: "You fathead, you're flying upside down!" The pilot then hurriedly turns over and flies upside while the gremlin laughs and laughs, silently. Then he sneaks off and drinks most of the gasoline—the gremlin's favorite beverage—leaving the pilot barely enough to get home.

Bitting through the control wires and jamming guns are everyday gremlin pranks. They have been known to walk out on the wings and make the ailerons flutter or to perch on the nose and push it down. Probably the most daring of all are those who slide down the radio beam when a plane is landing and roll up the runway so that the plane overshoots.

Young gremlins like to play seaway on the automatic horizon or use the compass for a merry-go-round when the pilot is flying blind. Widgets or baby gremlins, delight in climbing into gun barrels and deflecting bullets aimed squarely at the enemy.

Pilot reports clearly indicate that there are specialists among gremlins. The water gremlin devotes himself to disabling carburetors. The puff gremlin, with a big stomach, sucks the air from under a plane just as the gunner has a perfect aim, making the ship bounce and spoiling the shot. A sub-species concentrates on playing hob with the electrical circuits.

On the bulletin board of one RAF station is a memo describing the "bat-eared", or "Duticalatus prangiferous", gremlin, which has a long, sharp nose, excellent for causing inextinguishable rips in wings and fuselages. There is even a special high-altitude gremlin; the RAF Journal reports: "Gremlin proper operate only at low levels. The spandule takes over at 10,000 feet. Watch out for the spandule. Them's the ones who put ice on your wings."

RAF and U.S. fliers refer to the gremlin as "them", not "they" or "it" or "he". "Them" conveys the correct feeling of the gremlins' immanence and nameless power.

or.

Whether gremlins have wings—or just flap their large ears for flying—cannot be definitely known because nobody has ever seen a gremlin.

Thieves took some of the merriment out of Mr. Polak's Christmas this last week they entered his east Coleman home while he was at work and looted the place of $26 in cash, a rifle, some clothing, beer, and above all, his bottle of Johnny Walker. The police are still investigating.

Report From The Junior Red Cross

"The Cameronians," the Coleman branch of the Junior Red Cross, have reorganized for 1943-44. This Junior Red Cross is the oldest branch in Alberta, and consists of 37 members. Alan Mason is president, Irene Puhniak is vice-president and Barney Saloff is secretary. George Vincent is circulation manager and every member takes a turn at war services.

The members of the National Body of the Junior Red Cross have undertaken three new projects: 1, to pay for the dental work for Canadian prisoners of war; 2, to help feed the undernourished children of Poland, Greece, Yugoslavia, Belgium and France; 3, Madame Chiang-Kai-Shek was given $10,000 to help take care of Chinese orphans.

This year "The Cameronians" have sold 350 calendars. The money will be divided between the Crippled Children's fund and the Junior Red Cross War Fund. From the contributions of $50,000 Junior members the War Fund is built up and all the war services made possible.

Our motto is "I Serve," and when the chance comes we live up to our motto.

During the next few months we are collecting rags, fats and bones. Please notify a member of the Junior Red Cross when you wish us to call for any of these salvage articles.

We have helped the Milk for Britain Fund and always aid the orphans in Forreth Hall, England. (These orphans have been adopted by the Junior Red Cross members in Alberta.)

We would like to thank all those who have helped us and wish everybody A Merry Christmas and A Happy New Year.

Alan Mason, President;
Barney Saloff, Secretary.

"Cameronians" to Send Parcels Following New Year

"The Cameronians," of Cameron school, were unable to secure sufficient material to fill parcels to those former students of the school who are in the armed forces and based in Canada. The parcels to the boys overseas, however, are well on their way.

Principal Yuill stated this week that the parcels will be made up shortly after the New Year when goods will probably be more plentiful and that all former Cameron school students now in the forces will receive their presents.

GIFTS for Everyone

The Christmas Gift Store eagerly awaits you! Practical, tempting, attractively priced gifts for the armed forces and the hard working family on the home front... are on display now.

COLEMAN, ALBERTA

WE MUST HOLD THE LINE!

On the home front the battle against inflation is now the most critical of all.

The winning of this battle will contribute much to winning the war.

It will contribute more than all else towards the solution of post-war problems.

The purpose of Price Control is to prevent inflation. Its purpose is to protect and maintain a basic standard of living.

A higher money income will not be of any advantage if, because prices are going up, our money buys less and less.

To win the battle against unemployment in the post-war period, we must first of all win the battle against inflation.

Salaries and wages are a large element, often the largest element, in the cost of everything we buy.

If the Price Ceiling breaks down, in the long run all stand to lose.

We must hold the line against inflation to assure victory in war.

We must hold the line to provide a solid foundation on which, after the war, to build a greater and a better Canada.

Navy Marine Engines Made and Carried by C.P.R.

Helping to meet the urgent need of the Royal Canadian Navy for main marine engines and condensers to be used in escort vessels the Canadian Pacific Railway's Angus Shops in Montreal now has a steadily increasing flow of these "tools of war" coming from that section of the big shops which earlier completed the manufacture on schedule of more than 1,400 Valentine tanks, mainly for service in Russia.

The marine engine, pictured above on a C.P.R. depressed centre flat car, prior to being prepared for shipment, weighs 80 tons, with condensers and body plates included. Its size is demonstrated in the picture on the right of the workman, who is dwarfed by one of the huge connecting rods. Handling of the engines to their destination comes under the head of "high and wide" transportation, with special advice from the Canadian Pacific's engineering department being followed to squeeze the loads past bridges and other permanent installations.

As was the case with the Valentine tanks the marine engines are being made at the same time as Angus Shops handles the greatly increased repairs on locomotives and cars necessitated by wartime's heavier transportation load. All the jobs are being done without new buildings or extensive additions to the existing plant, a further demonstration of the versatility of the department headed by H. B. Brown, chief of motive power and rolling stock.

To reach marine engine production as early as possible machining of parts and fabrication of sub-assemblies was started while the tank work still was proceeding at the big Canadian Pacific shops. As machine capacity and floor area were released from the tank contract they were utilized for the marine engine work. The first 10-ton engine bodyplate was laid down a little over two weeks after completion of the last tank hull on the Valentine contract to earn the compliment in an official report that "the very best efforts were put forth by all persons responsible for this work."

A Christmas Message

(G. A. Kettyle)

"Let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see..." Lk. 2:15

"And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God." Lk. 2:20.

The shepherds were probably humble men who looked yearningly for the fulfillment of God's promises of the coming One, the Wonderful, the Saviour of His people, Israel. Abram, Jacob, Moses and David had been tenders of the flock; and now, to these shepherds came the message of the advent of the Good Shepherd. The message came by special herald from God. The eager faith of the shepherds led them to Bethlehem where faith was confirmed; they wondered, and worshipped. So, over the centuries, so the sincere sons of toil, God's message comes telling of Jesus, the Saviour, of God's good-will.

To the Magi also, Jesus was The Wonderful. We think of them as careful, reverent students. They were led from the wonder of the stars to the wonder of a little child. Learning, rightfully followed, leads through wonder to worship. Scientists of our day can tell us many things of which the Magi were ignorant. When we learn of the marvels of the starry heavens we are impelled to exclaim, "What is man, that Thou art mindful of him?" We wonder, even as they of old. We wonder how we came to know all this about the stars and the universe. The universe itself does not seem to know anything about itself, or to ask any wondering questions. But we do; and as we learn ever more about the universe it looks less like a great machine, and more like a great thought; surely it is the work of a Thinker. Copernicus said that he was trying to think God's thoughts after Him; and we call Him our Father.

"Our little systems have their day; They have their day and cease to be; They are but broken lights of Thee, And Thou, O Lord, art more than they."

To Mary, His mother, Jesus was ever wonderful. O holy wonder of a mother's love. Yes, Mother, your child too, is wonderful; one of God's most wonderful works. Grieve not though your home be poor; think you Mary grieved in the stable that night? Just open the palace of your mother's love. "Everyone that loveth is begotten of God, and knoweth God."

"O Holy Child of Bethlehem, Descend to us, we pray; Cast out our sin, and enter in; Be born in us today. We hear the Christmas angels The great glad tidings tell O come to us, abide with us, Our Lord, Emmanuel."

A Christmas Message

Rev. Father Leo Sullivan

For the fifth year in succession Christmas dawns upon a world plunged in fratricidal strife and deluged with blood and tears. Once again the Star of Bethlehem, that heralded the arrival of the Prince of Peace rises on a world strewn with wreckage and covered with ruins. The rhythm of the Angelic chorus is all but drowned out with the din of global war, the fullness of woe has fallen on the human race and evil has come to a full maturity. Failure is written in staring capitals upon humanity's idolatry of the secular and material.

As the bells peal this Christmas, men are walking in darkness and the literal shadow of death. Is it that Bethlehem has no light to guide, no power to heal? Is it that Christianity has failed? If a patient refuses to take the prescribed cure, how can he blame the doctor for his illness. And because the Divine physician was rejected men grope like bats in the blackout of our great cities, burrow in the bowels of the earth, perish by the teaming thousands. Chaos broods and confusion grows because mankind refused to look up to and follow the Star. The world is sick unto death because it has forgotten the lessons of Bethlehem.

These are sombre thoughts. But nothing is ever gained by imitating the ostrich and shying away from facts. This broken world can be remade. The evil that inflames the minds and hearts of men can be exercised. All that is necessary is a new and universal pilgrimage to Bethlehem, for there the cure for all our troubles can be found. And it is equally true that if men do not once again seek the Star, rediscover Bethlehem's Babe, then there is no hope for humanity. If the brightness of God is once again to shine upon the face of the earth and enlighten the blinded heart, all who believe that Mary's Babe was indeed the Son of God must become in reality his soldiers, so that their living faith may pierce the darkness born of the world's unbelief. In this dreadful hour all men of good will must relight their candles at Bethlehem's Crib and hold them high for all the world to see and be converted to the truth that is of God. Not until men have returned to the principles taught and lived by Bethlehem's Babe will true peace and security reign supreme---only then will the angels message be fulfilled. "Glory to God in the highest and peace on earth to men of good will."

A Christmas Message

GOD WITH US
Rev. J. R. Hague

Thy shall call his name Emmanuel, which being interpreted is, God with us.—Matthew 1:23
Christmas! What does it suggest? It is a public holiday, it is a time for plenty of good living, of good eating and drinking, for those who are not very poor; it is a gathering of families, a gentility in the family circle, a kind thought for the poor. These, indisputably, are the features which are most apparent and most real. The celebration of Christmas has its origin in that Yuletide of our Saxon forefathers which constituted the festival of the winter solstice long before Christianity was among us, and which again and again is shown raising its head over the associations which belong to the name of Christmas. It is indeed a thought not without suggestiveness that behind Christmas lies this older pagan festival. In the old primitive days men necessarily lived in much closer contact with nature than we do. They marked the seasons, they celebrated the periods of time by the periods of nature, and they marked those periods with festivals.

Something of the same sort happened in regard to Christmas. Today when nature seemed most dumb, most dead, most profitless, this it was that our forefathers, in all parts of the world, selected to commemorate the life of nature. They put themselves in mind by religious feasting and merry-making, that nature, though she seemed so dead, was still alive, that she would show her lamp again, that after the winter came the spring, and after the spring, the summer and autumn. And all these popular associations of Christmas come down from that old Yuletide festival of our pagan Saxon forefathers.

The coming of Christ to earth was a sign that Christmas is used to commemorate something which, tho' indeed it be full of the most unutterable joy, is yet only full of joy if first we will consent to a great spiritual effort and discipline. At Christmas we commemorate the coming of God, how the eternal Son of God came down and took this human nature of ours, and brought Himself into obvious and visible contact with this human life of ours, just as He found it all round Him, amid the sick, the sad and the sinful. He showed God, His character, His mind, His disposition and purpose toward men, plainly, unmistakably, here in the midst of us.

Yes, not only God above us, or God near us, or God helping us, but God with us. There lies the true cause for our Christmas joy, it is the fact of the Incarnation, that Jesus, the Son of God, took our flesh, and that the Man has become one of us, which makes the message of Christmas "glad tidings of great joy."

Unfortunately, Christmas, 1943, finds Canada and the democratic world engulfed in war with all its hatred, cruelty, suffering and heartache. Thousands of Canadian soldiers are away from home and loved ones this Christmas; wherever they are, we join them in sacrament and prayer and bear again the angels singing "Glory to God in the highest and on earth peace, goodwill toward men." Peace?

Christmas is a festival of Peace. And our bleeding world needs just this dynamic ideal which is the cornerstone of human well-being. When we catch the significance of Emmanuel—God with us—then shall people possess the priceless jewel of Peace in their hearts.

A Christmas Message

—Lieutenant S. Nahrney.

And being warned of God in a dream that they should not return to Herod, they departed into their own country another way. (Matthew 2:12).

It is a wonderful privilege to be able to visit and to have visitors. So many times when we visit Christian friends, we go away feeling refreshed, having more courage and hope, having a greater desire to press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus.

The Wise Men were the first to visit the Saviour of the world. And their visit was not in vain for they went away overjoyed, satisfied and no doubt praised God as they journeyed homeward.

There are many lessons that we can learn from the Wise Men. Firstly, their journey was one of Self-Denial and so will ours be if we deny ourselves, take up our cross and follow our Lord daily. Secondly, the Wise Men had to keep looking up at the Star. We all could save ourselves a great deal of sorrow, heartaches and distresses if we only learned to look up to Him who cares for all. Thirdly, the gifts that the Wise Men brought to Jesus; do they not sound a call to us to bring to Him our very best, our dearest, our life? Last, but not least, the Visitors returned back to their country but this time they went another way.

The journey home was different than the journey to Bethlehem for they travelled on a new way. They returned not to the old way. It is true that they did this because God desired them to do so. But it is not also true that every person that pays a visit to the One who came to seek and to save that which was lost, goes back on a new way, walking in newness of life?

We know what attitude Saul took toward the Christians of his time, but Saul met Jesus on the Damascus Road. Saul's name was changed to Paul, and not only his name but his whole life was transformed. That was when he started to travel on another way, all because he had met Him who was and is able to save from the uttermost to the uttermost all who will come unto Him.

Christ has said, "Him that cometh to me I will in no wise cast out." (John 6:37). No one has ever gone away disappointed that has paid a visit to the Lord Jesus Christ. The visit we speak of is one that calls for Repentance toward God and Faith in Him who died to save from sin. "If we confess our sins, He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness." (1 John 1:9). We speak that we do know from personal experience, and testify that we have seen men and women, boys and girls accept Christ as their own personal Saviour, and have had their very lives changed from old to new. This can be the experience of the "Whosoever."

Our prayer for you, dear reader, is that you might be willing enough to pay that visit to the Lord Jesus Christ, for He was Born to raise the sons of Earth, Born to give them Second Birth.

Best Wishes for a
Merry Christmas

WIDOW DIES IN TIME

Once upon a time we knew an in- valid widow who, in 1934, had an in- come of $3,400. She lived comfortably in a well-furnished house with two Royal Hall, Harrogate. The mayor attendants. Her tax for that year, af- ter deducting the full 10 per cent for (Stephenson) were present to give the charitable givings, was about $73. If children a message from the people today she had the same income, the tax would be $1,093. But as she was

FIVE CHRISTMASSES

- 1939—What is this war?
- 1940—What if we lose?
- 1941—Can we win?
- 1942—We can win.
- 1943—We are winning.

Always bear in mind that thou- sands of our finest people have died to save us, and reserving for the bereaved a deep and lasting sym- pathy, we now can look forward to Victory and Peace on Earth.

People shop where they are invited—that's why it pays to advertise.

Where are the Red Heads?

A knotty problem has come up for the National Research Coun- cil perhaps, or any person with an enquiring mind. It was un- earthed by none other than the House of Commons barber who wonders where red-headed males have gone. Twenty years ago they claim one in ten was red- headed; today they've dwindled. Only, real red-head among 245 members of the House of Com- mons is said to be Robt. McCub- bin, Liberal of West Middlesex. Now you take a guess.

The Petrunicks
Wish Their Friends
Season's Greetings

The following letter was receiv- ed from Mrs. Joe Petrunick on Monday morning. It reads:

May I have space in your paper this Christmas season to tell our many neighbors and friends in Coleman that we have not for- gotten their kindness during Joe's illness nor their help given when we moved east.

Joe is feeling fine now and able to work every day. At present he is pruning grape vines. The chil- dren attend the "little red school house" and enjoy it. We are all well and happy and like living on the farm, but wish we could meet someone from the home town.

However, getting The Journal every Tuesday is certainly a nice way to receive most of the news. It's "Yippee, Mom! Here's The Journal!" and everything else stops while we read it.

It's impossible to send greetings to all, so may I, through The Jour- nal, wish everyone a Very Merry Christmas and may 1944 bring Peace, Happiness and Prosperity to all, from the Petrunick family.

Prayer of a Mother

Dear Lord you gave Your Son to save the world,
You didn't count the cost in blood and sacrifice,
You gave your son that we might live,
Dear Lord, can I do less?
I gave the world my son that he might help to save
The things for which Your Son so nobly died,
If when the victor's won, Dear God,
And you send back my son,
I'll press him to my breast and thank You, Lord,
And if he goes to join Your Son, I'll understand,
And through my tears rejoice, that my son and the Son of God go hand in hand.—Anon

Canadian Pacific Women Fill Enlisted Men's Places

Invaluing such predominantly masculine strongholds as loco- motive shops and maintenance of way gangs, women have been helping to take up part of the slack caused by the enlistment of 16,285 men in the active armed forces from the Canadian Pacific Railway. At the first of Septem- ber this year there were 675 women employed by the Canadian Pacific in positions normally filled by men.

This layout shows some of the women at work. Giving the final touches to the top of a loco-otive in the roundhouse at Sud- bury, Ont., are Olive Kennedy cleaning up the number plate and Jennie Nell doing some other cleaning.

Smiling Vivian Constant, at the phone and silhouetted against the engine crew call board, is call "boy" for 77 crews in the loco- motive shops at North Bay, Ont., while Mary Lemieux, pictured chalking up directions as a car checker, also works in North Bay where her father, Joe Lemieux, is a Canadian Pacific trainman.

Father-daughter combinations are not unusual now as demon- strated by the railroading Sauves of Sudbury in the picture where Fred Sauve, company boilermak- er, sees how close he can come to his daughter, Lucille Sauve, an engine wiper, with a bit of grease. The list of women doing men's jobs shows there are 294 on east- ern lines and 171 in the West in the mechanical and operating departments while the commu- nications department is using 210 girls as telegraph messengers.

Buy War Savings Stamps and Certificates For Christmas

Christmas Eve, 1943

"This is the night—the night I've always lived for, year in and year out.

"This one is sure different, though. Instead of sleighbells, we've got tank tracks clanking over the rocks. Instead of stockings over the fireplace we've got Army socks drying on the bushes. In- stead of a treeful of presents, Jerry lobs over 155's.

"See that star over there? Looks like a Christmas star all right. It's shining down on our house right now, I bet . . . on Dad and Mom and the kids and Mary.

"They'll be singing carols and it'll sound wonder- ful. And there'll be a big fire in the fireplace and the stuff on the tree will be sparkling like diamonds.

And after a while they'll hang up the stockings. And finally they'll all go to bed and the kids'll dream of Santa Claus all night long, like I used to.

"Merry Christmas, Dad and Mom! Merry Christmas, kids! Merry Christmas, Mary! Don't worry about me. I'm all right. And, if everything goes okay, I'll be home for next Christmas."

Let us not fail the boy who waits tonight on a wind-swept hill. Let us try to match his job with ours. Let us work harder in mine and field and factory. Let us buy more and more Victory Bonds and War Savings Certificates. Let us resolve now to bring him home before another Christmas comes.

St. Paul's Ladies Aid
Elects Officers

On December 2nd, the Ladies' Aid of the United church gathered at the manse for the final meeting of the year. Among other important matters of business the Officers for the new year were chosen. Mrs. Nell MacKinnon, who has most efficiently filled the President's chair for nine years, asked that she be relieved of that office. Mrs. Mary Fraser was then elected by acclamation to the office of President. Other officers chosen were:
1st Vice-Pres.—Mrs. W. Dibley; 2nd Vice-Pres., Mrs. T. Holstead; Sec-Tres., Mrs. Jas. Kerr.

PRICES A FEW YEARS AGO

We were leafing through the files of The Macleod Gazette of not so many years ago, recently. Being somewhat in need of a meal at the time, it was perhaps understandable that our eye lingered over a prominent display ad of the local Safeway.

We read—and marvelled at the change the years have wrought in the housewife's marketing problem. It seems the ad in question appeared in our issue of July 2, 1932, away back when we all had plenty of everything that didn't cost money.

What did it take to finance a week-end's shopping in those lean days? Listen to the scale of prices, 1932 style:
Butter, (first grade) —per lb. 18c
Bread per loaf —.04
Combination special:
5 lbs. bacon and 3 lbs. lard — 1.00
And no coupons to limit purchases, either! We looked again, to make sure this time of plenty was in truth only eleven years ago.

The name of a brand of tea, since discontinued, which we recall as having been a particularly good one, came to light. Unseasonably, almost apologetically, the price was given—3 lbs. for 95c.

And jam! It's been a good while since any size can of a good pure jam came into our hands, at any price. Yet it's a matter of record that in those days thirty-five cents bought a four-pound can of pure red plum jam—and you didn't have to know the grocer, either.

Nowadays most of us have the price, which we generally didn't back in '32—but it takes more than merely the price in these times to fill up the larder with such items. In fact, it's no longer stylish, or even possible, to fill the larder with any such fare. Maybe we'll go back to that happy era again in due course, but it won't be this side of victory, and likely not for a good while after that.

It's a good idea to remember this, though—that each war bond you buy brings the end of rationing and jacked up food prices just that much closer.

Theatre Notes

"Air Force" comes to the Palace this week end, with John Garfield in the leading role. Mary Ann, a B-17 bomber is the heroine of this story. On a routine training flight, she reaches Hawaii as the Japs attack, after a brief landing at bomb-racked Hickman Field, proceeds to Manila via Wake Island. Japs precede her at every point. Enroute to Australia she intercepts an enemy transport, sees her last action over the Coral sea. But her spirit soars on in a proud new B-17 to which her battle scarred nameplate is bequeathed.

On Christmas Eve all Pass theatres will be closed.

Getting Ready for Sixth Victory Loan

From the Canadian Publishers War Finance Committee comes the announcement that a preliminary meeting on publicity for the Sixth Victory Loan will be held in Montreal on December 16. The committee states they would like to have suggestions on the approach to be made to the public in the next loan campaign, which will be held in April or early May. Bearing in mind the improved conditions on the fighting fronts, the end of the war may be in sight by the time the Next Victory Loan campaign is held states the committee.

On the other hand, others look forward to the heavy land fighting that will prevail when Germany is invaded, as it is not expected they will give up under air bombardment.

Do Not Shoot Pigeons

The R.C.A.F. is quite disturbed about some farmers, hunters and gun-toting youngsters taking pot shots at racing pigeons in flight. Please think twice before doing it again. They are either on the fly carrying messages, photographs, etc. for the armed services or being trained by civilian pigeon fanciers for a war job. Right now the R.C.A.F. Signals (Pigeon Division) is out to fight 1,000 new birds. Incidentally, since April, it is against the law to keep or fly pigeons without authority.

Help your country to victory—enlist now!

CONFESSIONS AND IMPRESSIONS

(Purely Personal)

We hit the town at midnight; The wind was eastward bound, The kind that whistles through you

Instead of going round. A cattle truck was waiting And I scrambled for a place But another "rucky" Aussie Came and stood square on my face.

At the station they were waiting; The C.O. and band as well; At midnight, below zero, they —Yeah! — Like Hell were waiting—

To buy damned wax, then seize Still they gave us cups of coffee, And said that was enough, Quite forgetting with the shortage,

There's no sugar for the stuff. So we trundled off to hut 13, And collapsed upon a bed. But the heating plant was bunged full on

And morning found us red. Now flying's great—but that's not all—

A rumble fund they've got And if perchance you go astray, Some coin goes in the pot. And with this cash, they've got the hide

Upon the boys to polish floors— I've got two housemaid's knees. Then pay-day comes and still they're there

As we line up in queue; "Voluntary Donations", then they call, "Or we'll take it away from you!"

The Government can't feed us boys, So a measing fund we start, And to tell 'em that it's still darned poor

We haven't got the heart. "Thirty-six" or "Forty-eight"— Each week—and with out fuss, Because they know and b... y well,

They'll cancel leave for us. "Whining!" you say? No not at all, But our temper's getting bristlier,

And we wait for the guy, who started it all— Then look out, Mister Hitler! —Stuart H. Dibley

Fighting Canada's Battles In Northern Manitoba And Saskatchewan Bushlands

(By J. P. De Wet, Secretary, Manitoba Chamber of Mines)
An interesting story of the great Flin Flon Mine.

Employees Control Welfare Board
In matters requiring adjustment between the Company and its employees, the latter are represented by the Employees' Welfare Board. This board consists of employee representatives from each department. No salaried employee or person in charge of other employees may sit on the board. The Company has no influence whatever in the election of the representation, this being done by the employees by secret ballot. Employees through their Welfare Board representatives may bring up any grievance, real or fancied, which they may have against the Company without the slightest fear of it being held against them by the Company. In practice, the Company's policy has always been to welcome the opportunity for discussion and settlement of any grievance brought forward, as it believes fully in personal freedom and discussion. Thus the cause of any grievance can be readily removed if it is a real one. The British system of free discussion thereby scores another triumph since the relationship between the Company and its employees is based on two of the principles we are fighting for—Freedom of Speech, and Freedom of Employee to join together in discussing mutual problems. Company representatives never attend the meetings of the Welfare Board, except upon invitation, and in consequence, discussion is free and without hindrance. Transactions of the Welfare Board are published once a month in their organ entitled "The Bulletin". The Company is a member of the National Safety Council of America and of the St. John Ambulance Association. A safety engineer and staff are employed, and in addition employees are taught First Aid. Those who qualify for First Aid certificates receive a bonus of $10.

Main School at Flin Flon, Man.—modern, well lighted and well staffed with teachers.

The health of the employees at Flin Flon is carefully guarded. A thorough medical examination is a required preliminary to employment, and should a man become ill or be injured he is given medical advice and care at the Flin Flon Clinic, in a Company-owned hospital, or at home as conditions may suggest.

How To Gain Advancement
A large and well managed mine like the Flin Flon provides a great variety of jobs. Beginners in the Surface and Transportation Department are known as the bull gang, where an aptitude for special kinds of work can find many profitable outlets for the newcomer's interest and ability. From ordinary labor in the bull gang one may graduate to be a helper in a trade connected with the Surface, Transportation, Construction, and Machine Shop work. Variety adds spice to the work and the experience gained on the bull gang gives one the best general idea of what's going on and what it's all about around a mine as the multiplicity of jobs takes one "all over the works". Outstanding surface workers as they prove competent, adaptable, intelligent and prepared for the next opening to come, may become, in time, specialized foremen, etc.

Beginners underground are called muckers. They dig and clean ditches in the haulage tunnels and clean up headings after the mechanical muckers have done the heaviest part of the work of shovelling ore and waste rock. There are many other occupations for beginners underground, but generally it is the muckers who become miner's helpers and later miners. Mucker bosses, mine foremen, shift bosses and so forth, mostly are promoted from workmen quality as operators with an increase in pay dependent on their aptitude.

Flin Flon Works All Year Round
There is a comforting permanency in employment at Flin Flon, since the Company has reserves of ore to last a good number of years and, moreover, has an exploration department whose job is to find new ways to improve efficiency of operation and increase the output of the metals. It is a good, year-round job too with no seasonal lay-offs.

When Robert Service lived in the Yukon he found the towns inhabited by "two gun" miners with "pokes" full of gold nuggets or dust in their pockets. They bought raw hicker drinks for themselves and hunkies mostly called Lou, and settled their poker disagreements with revolver shots. But a modern mining town is an orderly community with lots of men on a steady payroll—the class of chap that marries a nice girl and raises a healthy family in respectability and comfort. The tough guy soon finds out that he cannot get along at all in Flin Flon.

Explanations and Comments
The Wise Men's Quest of the Infant Jesus, Matthew 2:1, 2. It was in the days of Herod the Great that Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judah and Wise Men from the East came seeking him. Artists portray them as three in number and as kings, but there is no suggestion in Matthew's story as to how many they really were or being kings. They belonged to the priestly or learned class famous among the Medes, Persians and Babylonians as astrologers, seers, and interpreters of dreams. The tradition that there were three of them (Caspar, Melchior and Balthazar) may have originated from the story of their bringing three kinds of gifts, verse 11.

When these men saw a strange star (a conjunction of planets that shone like one star is Kepler's theory) they accepted it as betokening the birth of the King of the Jews, and started forth from their home in Arabia or Persia or still farther east to offer him their homage.

The Wise Men and Herod, Matthew 2:3-8. When they reached Jerusalem, they greatly troubled Herod and all the city by their inquiry for the King of the Jews. Herod feared a pretender to his throne, and the people were troubled probably because they feared to have Herod angered, for he was very cruel and unscrupulous.

Herod wished to know the age of the Child who, he thought, might be a claimant to his throne, and therefore learned from the Wise Men the time of the star's appearing. The babe shall not escape his highest search, he thinks. Then he sent them to Bethlehem and ordered them to return and tell him exactly concerning the young Child, claiming that he too, would go and worship him.

The Wise Men Worship the Infant Jesus, and Return to their Country, Matthew 2:9-12. The Wise Men went to Bethlehem and finding the house where the Infant Child and his mother, they fell down and worshipped him, paying homage in accordance with the eastern custom of prostrating themselves before him. Then they presented their gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh, the gifts most highly valued in their land.

Being warned of God in a dream that they should not return to Herod, they went home another way.

Mathematics originated in Greece with the school of Thales about 600 B.C.

MAHOGANY ROAD
Radio News says United States army engineers have constructed in Dutch Guiana a highway on a base of mahogany and surfaced with aluminum. Stops Many Imports By Germany From Pre-War Sources
In Great Britain's air and sea front against Germany, the Royal Navy has played a tremendous part. Its task was to cut off the German war machine from vital supplies, and it accomplished this by stopping the following percentages of German imports from pre-war sources; oil, 8%; cotton, 98%; maize, 99%; natural phosphates 95%.

Supply Depot

Built In Britain For American Army In Record Time

In ten weeks a small group of officers of the Royal Engineers have transformed 200 acres of cornfields, pastures, trees and hedges into a vast supply depot for the American Army in Britain. "Ten-week town" is now a vast conglomeration of work of concrete roads. There are 14 miles of railways and seven miles of roads. In peacetime this work would have taken upwards of a year to complete.—London Daily Telegraph.

The Real Success

Of Canada's Victory Loans Depends On Purchasers Keeping Bonds

The success of the Fifth Victory Loan depends on more than the actual sale of the bonds, which went over the top. The real success depends on the people keeping the bonds they have bought. If they turn right around and sell them, their purchase has not the importance it had.

There are cases of financial emergency where people have to sell the bonds to raise cash for some indebtedness. But, in the general run of affairs, it should not be necessary to sell the bonds. Holding them is part of holding the inflation line—W. L. Clark, in Windsor Star.

A MIGHTY PUFF PUDDING

IS CRANBERRY PATSY!

Puddings, like people, have personality. Yorkshire pudding, for example, is the sturdy "Good provider" type. Snow pudding is ethereal and demure. Cranberry Patsy is a gay young lady in a red beret—a little pert and more than a little saucy.

Cranberry Patsy

3 cup cranberries
1½ cups sugar
¼ cup water

1½ cups sifted flour
¼ cup sugar
4 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening
½ cup All-Bran
1 egg
½ cup milk

Mix berries, sugar and water. Bring to boiling point over moderate heat; stirring constantly; simmer two minutes. Spread in 8-inch round pyrex or 9-inch square baking pan.

Sift flour, sugar, baking powder and salt together. Cut in shortening. Soak All-Bran in beaten egg and milk about 5 minutes. Add to dry ingredients stirring only until combined. Drop dough by spoonfuls over cranberries. Bake in moderately hot oven (400 F.) 30 to 35 minutes. Serve warm with thin cream.

Yield: Eight to nine servings.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY— A Switch In Time

By MADGE ELWOOD
McClure Newspaper Syndicate

Corporal McNew laid his whiskers on the window sill. They were hot and uncomfortable. It wasn't, he thought, military duty to play the role of Santa Claus at the garrison Christmas party. He couldn't, however, disobey his commanding officer. Nor did he want to after hearing about that vacancy for a corporal at the recruiting office in Kansas City. McNew had been born there. Marianne lived there now and only yesterday he'd heard that Marianne had been seen with a fireman. It was time that he went home but a furlough was out of the question after buying Marianne's Christmas present. He'd have to trust to the magic of Santa Claus. Surely the colonel would reward perfection.

The colonel, though, had made his role more difficult. "Er—" he'd drummed on the table with his fingers. "I want you especially to convince my son. Make him believe that Santa Claus is really magic. My son is—er—fascinated by anything in the electrical line. He's been—er—quite disturbing. I've told him that Santa only gives presents to good boys. If you can encourage his belief, it'd help the regiment and—" the colonel had coughed—"me."

He'd have to be a perfect Santa Claus, McNew thought. Sonny, every soldier in the regiment knew, was a very skeptical eight.

"Hello," Peeping in window he saw the object of his worries accompanied by the regimental mascot—Henry, the goat. McNew slipped into a closet. Too late, he remembered his whiskers. The goat, as the regiment had learned, had an appetite. McNew's fears were confirmed when he emerged from the closet. The whiskers were gone, and he heard Sonny giggling. "I bet Santa Claus ain't magic enough to grow more whiskers. I bet he ain't magic at all. Dad doesn't know everything. Say, Henry, I wonder if Santa Claus can see in the dark. I know how to turn off the switch—"

McNew sighed. Soldiers were supposed to be ingenious. But Sonny was clever, too. The Christmas party was to begin at seven. It was six now. How could Santa Claus appear without whiskers? They couldn't be bought at this time of night. McNew smacked at a mosquito. It was at this Texas border station. McNew remembered some cotton fields nearby. Due to a plague of insects, not all of the cotton had been picked. He hurried out of the barracks, pausing to slap at an early firefly. He grinned as he remembered the fireman. That guy son would learn what a real soldier could do.

The band played a traditional Christmas carol. Corporal McNew stood beside a gayly decorated tree and began to distribute gifts to the children of the regiment. "Thanks," said a red-headed boy, "is it a foot-ball?" Corporal McNew frowned. This was hard work. A curly-haired girl tried to kiss him. A small boy attempted to pull his whiskers. He picked up the package marked with Sonny's name. Sonny had disappeared. McNew called his name again, walked to the front of the platform and almost fell as the lights went out.

McNew was not prepared for the insects that flew about his head. He took a step backward as tiny lights gleamed about his whiskers. Fireflies must have made their homes on the abandoned cotton he had plucked. McNew stepped on a package, stumbled and grabbed the tree for support. He caught a branch. Out of the darkness, he heard Sonny's voice: "Yes, Santa, here I am."

"Here—" McNew tried to hand the boy the package containing the electric train. A firefly rested on his whiskers. "Here, Santa Claus carries his own lights, you know."

A firefly rested on his cheek. "It's magic!" asked Sonny. "And you grew more whiskers—"

McNew stumbled again, reached for support. The branch cracked and broke. Falling, he caught Sonny's hand. "Here!"

The lights went on. Sonny fled down the steps and McNew saw that the colonel was comforting a weeping boy. Then the swaying tree fell on McNew and his mouth was filled with cedar and tissue. It didn't matter. A corporal who'd given the colonel's son a switch for a Christmas gift would never be recommended for a recruiting job in his home town. More than likely he'd be sent to the guardhouse.

The annual event at last over, Mc-

New painfully removed the cotton from his chin. His suffering was in vain. He could never explain away his mistake.

The colonel wanted to see him. McNew hurried. His chin was sore and red, but he managed a salute. "Yes, sir."

"Did you ever act the part of Santa Claus before?"

"No, sir," McNew suppressed a sigh. He wondered if the fireman was handsome.

"Um—maybe that explains the fire and the switch. There was a curious note in the colonel's voice. McNew struggled to explain, but the colonel interrupted: "I hear you want that recruiting job in Kansas City. Under the circumstances, I've decided to recommend you. Sonny wants to visit his grandmother there and you can take care of him on the journey. His grandmother thinks that Sonny is a good boy. I expect you to—er—continue to be resourceful."

"Yes, sir," But McNew sighed. He wondered if snow could be used to advantage by a resourceful soldier in charge of an equally ingenious boy.

Cabled Messages From Relatives Are Received Through Red Cross

The Canadian Red Cross has had an arrangement in effect for the past year whereby Canadians can send cabled messages to relatives and friends who are interned or prisoners of war in enemy-occupied countries, officials at Ottawa said.

It is understood that Canada is the only country which has such a service but that other countries are considering making similar arrangements to relatives and from relatives to prisoners—have been under consideration.

The Red Cross has definite information that its cabled messages have been delivered to prisoners in Germany and Italy and one or two reports confirming delivery of messages to people in Japanese hands, but is not sure the system is working in all cases on messages to territory under Japanese control.

A single transport plane can carry sufficient dehydrated vegetables to feed a battalion for a week.

FREE ISSUE OF HONOUR ROLL PROVES POPULAR IN CANADA

The attractive Honour Roll, issued free of charge to churches, educational institutions, factories, offices, clubs, fraternal societies and other organizations for the purpose of recording the names of the men and women who have volunteered for Active Service in the armed forces, is meeting with a wonderful reaction on the part of the public. Headquarters announced.

The Honour Roll is artistically designed and it symbolizes in striking and authentic heraldic form the historic mastery of the British Empire. The basic motif is the Canadian coat-of-arms with flanking shields showing the maple leaf of Canada, the shamrock of Ireland, the thistle of Scotland, the rose of England and the fleur-de-lis of old France.

In the design on the base are the heraldic flags of the Navy, Army and the Air Force. The coloring is rich and the whole is reproduced by a special process.

The Honour Rolls are in various sizes, namely 12, 36, 102, 412 and 612 names, and it is pointed out that they may be obtained only by writing to the Director of Army Recruiting, Aymer Building, Ottawa. While these Honour Rolls are issued under the supervision of the Directorate of Army Recruiting it is explained that they are for the names of the men and women of the Navy, Army and Air Force—without distinction—on Active Service.

The name of the church, school or business together with the size of Roll required should be clearly stated on the application.

It has been estimated that about 200,000 Canadians have syphilis and do not know it. Of these some 30,000 will die prematurely with syphilis-riddled brains and hearts, and in many instances their families will become dependent on the state.

This was the message given 500 industrial physicians and nurses, plant managers and personnel officers at Toronto by Lt.-Col. D. H. Williams, R.C.A.M.C., chief of the division of venereal disease control, Department of Pensions and National Health, Ottawa. Colonel Williams spoke at an industrial health conference called by the Health League of Canada in co-operation with the Ontario Department of Health.

Blood Donors

Iron Rations Maintain Blood And Build Health

Comparing blood counts has become a fashionable pastime among regular visitors to Blood Donor clinics and having a high blood count has become a matter of pride with the thousands of Canadians who give of their blood that the wounded may live.

Good red blood means a blood stream which carries a sufficient supply of iron to the body," explains Dr. L. B. Pett, Director of the government's Nutrition Services at Ottawa.

"Even though you may not live within reach of a blood donor's clinic, it is important that you provide enough iron in the day's meals, for iron is one of the many factors which help to build up resistance to colds and other infections.

"The amount of iron present in the human body is very small,—about enough to make five small carpet tacks,—but so important is it that, if it were withdrawn, death would follow in a few minutes.

For an adequate supply of this important mineral, Dr. Pett lists the following foods that should be eaten regularly. Every day,—whole grain cereals and bread, green, leafy vegetables. Potatoes and other root vegetables will contribute more iron if cooked without peeling. Three or four times a week—an egg; once a week—a generous serving of liver, heart or kidney.

Dried peas and beans, red meat, molasses and dried fruits are other foods which rate high as "iron ration."

DON'T SPOIL FATS

Don't spoil fats, and foods cooked in fat, with too much heat. The unpleasant odour of smoking fat is a warning that the fat is breaking down, chemically. Food will be harder to digest and the life of the fat will be shortened, for fat that is overheated becomes rancid quickly.

The British Army was outnumbered by the enemy in every one of its campaigns in the first three years of war.

THE HEALTH OF CANADA

It has been estimated that about 200,000 Canadians have syphilis and do not know it. Of these some 30,000 will die prematurely with syphilis-riddled brains and hearts, and in many instances their families will become dependent on the state.

This was the message given 500 industrial physicians and nurses, plant managers and personnel officers at Toronto by Lt.-Col. D. H. Williams, R.C.A.M.C., chief of the division of venereal disease control, Department of Pensions and National Health, Ottawa. Colonel Williams spoke at an industrial health conference called by the Health League of Canada in co-operation with the Ontario Department of Health.

Speaking on syphilis as a saboteur of industrial production, Colonel Williams urged pre-employment and routine Wassermann tests as part of industrial health examinations but added that education of both employers and workers was necessary. He emphasized that "for all practical purposes syphilis is spread only by intimate physical contact." Many useful workers had been discriminated against by being deprived of employment when their condition was discovered. If this attitude continued syphilis would be driven "underground" to continue its insidious ravages among Canada's workers.

"The law doesn't permit any physician to tell management that an employee has syphilis," Colonel Williams continued, pointing out that secrecy was both essential and required by law. All the plant physician might do was to report to management on the fitness of an employee to do the work to which he had been assigned.

Girl Friend: "Well, not exactly free, but very inexpensive."

"Are you the defendant in this case?"

"No sah, I've got a lawyer to do my defendin'. I've de man what stole de chickens."

A salesman and his girl were arrested for loitering in the park. The judge turned to the man and said: "What's your name?"

The man replied: "Ben Petten." The judge said: "What is yours, miss?"

The girl said: "Ann Howe."

Employer—Have you any references?

Applicant—No, sir. I tore them up.

Employer—That was a foolish thing to do.

Applicant—You wouldn't think so if you had read them.

They were discussing a mutual friend.

"Brown is a good fellow, really," said one, "but he treats his poor wife miserably."

"What do you mean?" the other asked, "Does he beat her?"

"No, no! He just refuses to argue with her."

Judge: "Have you anything to offer the court before sentence is passed?"

Defendant: "Nothing, your honor. My lawyer has taken my last cent."

Hitler to Tojo over the phone: "Hell, Tojo, I told you would be in America in three weeks."

Tojo: "So sorry, Adolph—where you call from—Moscow?"

A Frenchman was relating his experience in studying the English language. He said: "When I first discovered that if I was quick I was fast; that if I was tied, I was fast; that if I spent too freely, I was fast; and that not to eat was to fast; I was discouraged. But when I came across the sentence, 'The first one won one-dollar prize,' I gave up trying."

Servant: "Oh, mum, I've knocked the big flower-pot off the window-ledge, and it fell on a man's head."

Mistress: What! My beautiful fuchsia.

VICKS VAPOR-NOL

Care Of Cattle

Should Never Give Live Stock Ice Cold Water

For all cattle in winter, particularly for dairy cows, a liberal supply of good clean water is necessary. And an important thing is that the chill should be taken off the water before drinking. As pointed out by W. D. Albright, Superintendent Dominion Experimental Farm, Beaver Lodge, Alberta, "starey-coated, constipated cattle shivering humped back at icy troughs on a bleak winter day are an object of sympathy and a standing advertisement for shrunken profits." If the water is ice-cold, the animals do not drink enough water. The small amount that they do drink checks natural functions. Results are constipation, ill-thrift, and sometimes indigestion.

Warm water is relaxing and substitutes in part for succulent feed. Half a pailful of tepid water has brought many a horse around after an immersion or after a cold hard drive. Swine do poorly on ice-cold drinks. A heater in the drinking tank will not only avoid much ice chipping but will contribute decidedly to the health and comfort of the farmyard stock.

Deeds Make Fine Gifts

Don't you sometimes wish you were a millionaire, more especially around Christmas? For it seems to be around Christmas that most of us need every penny, and around this time we start to really work. There are so many gifts to be made and bought if we would remember friends and neighbors.

I wonder if any of you who are in the same boat as I, have thought about making this a Christmas of deeds? Ideas come from funny places sometimes, but I thought of this one when I saw my sister's pile of undarned socks. Four growing sons wear many a hole in many a sock and I have often heard her say that could she just get to the bottom of that seemingly endless pile, all other work would seem easy. So this Christmas, instead of a parcel, she is going to receive a note, and the note will read something like this:

Merry Christmas, sister. I'll take your haley socks
And mend them all quite neatly.
Now fill this empty box
With stockings, mitts and patchy things until it is quite full.
I'll mend for you at least a week.
But don't forget the wool!

Perhaps you have a sewing machine and are quite handy at home sewing. You might offer, in verse if you can, to run up that dress that your friend has been intending to do for so long and has just never got around to doing.

If you are the proud possessor of a washing machine, that neighbor who has a new baby would count it the best gift she ever received if you were to send her a Christmas card offering to take her soiled sheets for the next month and send them back sweet and clean. It would help her out of all proportion to the time and effort you will expend.

But wait, you may be a woman who simply can't find a spare minute to do any of these things, because your own family takes up all your time, your own darling looms immense and your own sewing is piling up. But think a bit. Wouldn't you like to give a gift to that friend who also has two or three small children? Then give her a day. Take the children for a day. Plan a simple dinner, stretch it a bit, stand an extra bit of noise, wipe a few extra noses, dry a few extra tears, pull up more panties, hand out more cookies, straighten out more squabbles, and give her what you yourself would love—a day to yourself. It might even work so well that she will make the gift mutual, and imagine—just imagine what you could do with a whole uncluttered day!

If you live near the schoolhouse and someone you desire to remember doesn't, why not offer to give her little girl a hot meal with you once a week? There are few people who would not consider that a real gift and so long as you haven't a big cash outlay for food, one extra plate won't mean a great deal. But if you must buy all the food for your table that is another matter, and it might be better to squash your generosity than to rue it when the grocery bill comes in.

I seem to be blessed with good neighbors, and one of them has thought out intention given me a year-round gift. I trust she reads this and repeats it as a present this Christmas. My circumstances are such that I am unable to take my eldest little girl to the odd concert or picture show that comes our way. But on every occasion when she would have missed such delights, this woman has generously offered to take her along with her own children.—Mary.

The Party In The Barn

One winter's night when the cold winds blew,
Three birds into a red barn flew;
And there they sat high over the hay
And talked about things they had done that day.

They liked the barn—it was snug and warm,
And there they were safe from the raging storm;
Up from a stall came a friendly "Moo"
And some mice climbed up to say, "How do you do!"

The horses whinnied and called up, "Neigh,"
(Although that was not what they meant to say),
And the little pigs grunted to let them know
They were glad they were safe from the wind and snow.

As time crept on and they should have slept
An all-night chattering-fest they kept.
The wind hid the barn in a raging storm,
A party for barn-folk who couldn't get out!

When a clock called out to the rooster to crow,
And the farmer looked out on the ice and the snow,
'Neath the red barn's roof six sleepy eyes closed,
And the three birds slept 'til—goodness knows!

Came Christmas Eve. There was such delight
Where the animals lived that winter's night!
The wind hid the barn in a raging storm,
But within its walls it was snug and warm.

Each stall was dressed in a sprig of green,
With bright red berries worked in between,
And a sprig of mistletoe hung high
Outside the pretty girl pig's sty.

A hen led them all in the rousing song,
'We to Macdonald's Farm Belong!'
Then they all gathered 'round where the lantern was hung,
And a cow rang her bell while the carols were sung.

They played old games that were so much fun!
And they all told jokes—When a hog told one
An old horse laughed 'til his sides were sore,
And he rolled on the hay on the old barn floor.

They formed a ring when 'twas time to eat,
For the birds had provided a wonderful treat—
There were apples and corn, and a chocolate cake
That a man had thrown out (his wife couldn't bake!)

The gifts came next—how they opened their eyes
And grunted and chuckled at each surprise!
For the hens there were worms (like one seen in the rain)
In a box wrapped in lovely red "Cellophane."

The bull rolled grand in his red bow tie,
And the rooster's new comb made the chicken girls sigh!
Each horse had a brush to spruce up his tail
And the goose got some rouge 'cause she looked so pale.

The cow got books on "The Best Way To Chew,"
And each mouse got a toothbrush and picks (just a few),
The pigs' curling pins made them squeal with delight,
For now they could curl 'til their tails just right.

They sang and they played 'til all fell asleep
On the well-tramped hay, and not even a peep
Was heard from the birds or the small barn mouse
When Santa Claus called at the farmer's house.

The three small birds who had worked so hard
Always had friends in the old farmyard
Who shared with them all they had to eat
For their kindness in planning that Christmas treat.

—WILLIAM J. COWLS

A Prayer For The Forces Of The King

O Lord God of Hosts, stretch forth, we pray thee, thine almighty arm to strengthen and protect the forces of our King in every peril of sea, and land, and air; be with them in the day of battle, and in time of training keep them safe from all evil; endue them ever with loyalty and courage; and grant that in all things as they serve their Country they may serve thee through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

The New Year

Ring out wild bells, to the wild sky
The flying cloud, the frosty light;
The year is dying in the night;
Ring out wild bells, and let him die.

Ring out the old, ring in the new,
Ring happy bells, across the snow;
The year is going, let him go;
Ring out the false, ring in the true.

Ring out a slowly dying cause,
And ancient forms of party strife;
Ring in the nobler modes of life,
With sweeter manners, purer laws.

Ring out old shapes of foul disease,
Ring out the narrowing lust of gold;
Ring out the thousand wars of old,
Ring in the thousand years of peace.

Ring in the valiant man and free,
The larger heart, the kindlier hand;
Ring out the darkness of the land,
Ring in the Christ that is to be.

Tennyson.

ASK FOLKS TO DINNER

CHRISTMAS week provides a delightful opportunity for asking friends to dinner—whether the guest list is made up of only family members or those outside the family circle. There is something about this sparkling cold season that instills in every hostess the desire to gather an intimate group about her . . . and to serve them with the finest foods her kitchen can produce.

With your table stretched to full capacity, cover it with a creamy damask cloth which has dinner size napkins to match. If you have only white damask, try "dipping" your favorite; the color will disappear in the first tubbing if you want the cloth white again . . . which you probably won't since an off-white forms a rich background for gleaming silver and colorful china. Besides, many decorators claim it is more artistic than white.

Flowers always make a perfect centerpiece. But since we can use flowers throughout the year and it is only at this season that fruit and vegetables seem apropos, my vote is for these garden products, which if carefully selected as to color and form, well polished, and attractively arranged, are a picturesque display of Mother Nature's own colors.

A well-shaped and sizeable pumpkin covered with cotton batten makes the simplest container for these products and when filled to overflowing with rosy apples, is both colorful and appropriate. Squash may be used also—cornucopia style, slightly tipped with the apples piled round about. An old-fashioned silver cake basket may offer the same assortment.

Be sure that your best silver is gleaming, and set the table with care. Ivory candles are always correct, but for this dinner you may wish to "pick up" the colors of your centerpiece, which if done carefully, makes an effective unit with the central piece.

Serving the food in the kitchen directly onto dinner plates is becoming more and more popular because it gives a table an uncrowded appearance at all times. However, if you have planned a triumphant—appearing crown roast of lamb, a roast turkey or duck, you are justified in your desire to have your guests see the creature in all its juice-bursting lusciousness before it is mutilated by the knife. A side table solves this . . . the carving may be done there after the guests have oh-ed and ah-ed at sight of it in its entirety. Or it may merely be brought in, then removed to serving pantry for the carving.

CHRISTMAS

I have always thought of Christmas-time, when it has come round—apart from the veneration due to its sacred name and origin, if anything belonging to it can be apart from that—as a good time; a kind, forgiving, charitable, pleasant time; the only time I know of, in the long calendar of the year, when men and women seem by one consent to open their shut-up hearts freely, and to think of people below them as if they were fellow-passengers to the grave, and not another race of creatures bound on other journeys. And therefore, though it has never put a scrap of gold or silver in my pocket, I believe that it has done me good, and will do me good; and I say, God bless it!

From a Christmas Carol (Charles Dickens).
